AUGUST

OUTSIDE THE CIRCLE

-Diya Mithra

Recently I was given a seminar to do in maths, where I was asked to explain a concept to my fellow classmates. This session was supposed to be engaging and interactive. Here, I took on the role of my maths teacher for a few minutes, explaining the concept and the students were free to ask me questions. For a person with an intense fear of speaking in public, holding a seminar in front of my classmates was surprisingly fun. For this seminar, I was teamed up with people I wasn't really familiar with, but looking back on the entire experience, it was something that pushed me outside my comfort zone. I got the opportunity to branch out instead of being cooped up within my circle of friends. And even though the thought of holding a seminar initially bothered me, it taught me a lot. I gradually overcame my fears and became significantly better at communicating. It also taught me how to better express my opinions to others and made learning something to look forward to.

3rd Investiture ceremony of TIPS Coimbatore:

The Investiture ceremony may have only joined the TIPS family three years ago, but the impact this event has had is significant. Students of all ages look forward to this day since they will be meeting their fellow housemates and newly appointed leaders.

The TIPS ideology revolves around a holistic approach towards education. By having students pursue positions of leadership, they become better decision-makers and mentors being able to devise solutions to challenging problems. The event started with a welcome note thanking the previous captains and house masters for their services, and then introduced the new house captains and house masters for the upcoming academic year.

Soon, the coveted Student Pupil Leader (SPL) was announced and the Chief Academic Officer bestowed the honour upon the chosen students.

The entire Leadership team along with the school took a solemn oath of commitment promising to fulfil their responsibilities with good spirit and to set high benchmarks for future leaders.

SOCCER SPECTACLE

Our annual soccer fest was held on the 5th of August and is certainly not going to be a day I'll ever forget. I along with some fellow teammates volunteered at the soccer fest of our juniors held earlier that morning. During our time volunteering, we began strategizing for our match, and that's where we were able to build our chemistry, and team spirit. I played a part in orchestrating the attack ; ensuring that the ball reached our strikers. Meanwhile, the attackers took care of most of the dribbling, creating space for our strikers to launch their barrage of shots.

In our semi-final against Poseidon, I was incredibly disappointed when I missed an early scoring opportunity but, during the second half we showed our teamwork and overcame our setbacks. During the finals against Zeus, we got off to a conquering start, with both our strikers scoring one goal each in the first half and carried on strong, playing defensively in the second half, and solidified our victory.

To sum it up; great food, epic matches, and memories for life - that's what this day was all about!

The DP students were buzzing with excitement for the Independence day celebration, as a long-lived tradition of TIPS was to be re-lived: Honouring the parents and the toppers of the previous year and motivating young minds to give their best. It was a prestigious moment seeing the IGCSE toppers, currently pursuing DP-1, be the Guests of Honour and hoist the flag. In high spirits, they gave revitalising speeches about their journeys and how they continue to overcome the challenges shot at them in DP.

Kicking off the performances was an innovative display of flag-dance choreography orchestrated by the residential students. This was followed by a sensational classical dance performance and dulcet singing that exemplified our nation's culture. Last but certainly not the least, the celebration ended energetically with a groundbreaking dance performance.

This Independence day celebration was particularly special as it reminded us of some of India's most valued and hard working individuals. The glorious contribution made by the freedom fighters and the historical legends in freeing our nation from the clutches of colonial rule, depicted through various performances, evoked a sense of pride and responsibility to preserve the hard earned independence of our nation.
